Talk comes from Neligh of the organization of a base ball circuit with Neligh, Norfolk, West Point, Columbus, David City, Central City, Grand Island and Kearney in the league. The probabilities are that possibly one or two towns might be added and one or two dropped in the above list before a consummation is reached, but certainly such a league would provide the Norfolk fans with a series of fast games the coming season. -Norfolk Journal.

The Seward Reporter has this to say concerning the appointment of our townswoman, I. L. Albert as district judge, to succeed Judge Sullivan, who is now a member of the supreme court: "The new judge is one of the old-time populists, and his appointment is not altogether pleasing to the democrats, who think that a member of their branch of the three-trailed aggregation should have had the place. But the governor, with his eyes fixed on the prospect of securing a third term in the executive chair, probably knows which course is the more advisable for his political interests."

The county teachers meeting which was held in the high school building Saturday afternoon, was the most successful ever held in this city. There was scarcely a standing room, and every name on the program was carried out as advertised. The songs and exercises by the city school children were particularly interesting, because they gave the practical work as in school. The teachers showed considerable spirit in regard to the care of their branch of the association. Resolutions were passed by the teachers censuring Dr. Butler for the article. The next meeting of the teachers will be held at Platte Center, February 12.

A special to the Omaha Bee from Albion, under date of Saturday says: "Willard Baker, cashier of the Albion National bank, shot himself through the right temple this morning at the bank a little before 8 o'clock. No hopes are entertained of his recovery. No motive can be ascribed, as the bank is solid and has a large reserve, and his personal affairs are apparently in good shape. The act was evidently committed in a fit of despondency or insanity, he having been overworked and unable to sleep, complaining of terrible pains in the head during the last week." He has died since the above was written and the remains passed through here Monday to Eagle Bridge, N. Y., Dr. Braab of Albion accompanying them.

Tuesday night or early Wednesday morning of last week, burglars entered the offices of Way & Hockenberger, and the one just across the street occupied by Foster & Smith. At the former place entrance was made by breaking a glass out of a side window. Nothing was taken, but the inside box of the safe was opened with a hammer and pencil, and the three-trailed aggregation of the safe was broken. The safe's entrance was easily gained by breaking a large glass out of the front door. While fooling with the safe (which was not locked in the evening) it was in some way locked and it was abandoned. A gross of pens was taken from the desk, which was all that some one not far away did the job and his chances are good for a trip over the road.

Baker Post No. 9, with Union Camp No. 134, and friends to the number of about sixty, attended joint installation Saturday night. The program as carried out was first installation of Sons by Bert Plunkard, his first read his commission from the Colonel of the Division, then installed the officers of the camp. The office of installing officer for the G. A. R. was filled by John Tannahill, in a happy manner, after conducting commander James H. Galley by his proper position. Comrade R. L. Rosmer presented to him (with a very neat speech) the new Laurel wood gavel, sent to the post A. M. Jennings of Fitzgerald, Georgia. The reply of Commander Galley was very good and brought forth a great deal of applause. Supper was served by a detail of Sons at 10:30, after which there was vocal and instrumental music until midnight, all going home well pleased. Nine brethren were in attendance from Bellwood.

The Congregational people had a "house warming" in their church last Thursday evening, a rejoicing over the splendid furnishing that was placed in their new church home recently. Refreshments were served by the ladies in the class-room until about eight o'clock, when all were seated in the main building to listen to a program, a review of the history of their church. Elder Hudson, who was one of the founders of the first Sunday school, out of which sprang the first church, gave a very interesting account of the first church which was the Congregational church. The first church was dedicated in February 1867. The first car of freight brought to Columbus was the Union Pacific railroad was the materials for the church. Workmen were then paid about four dollars a day and the little church then built cost over $1,000, the building now owned by the Baptists. -C. A. Speice, M. Weaver and James Freston carpenters. Rev. Gaylord, a missionary, was the first preacher in town in the year 1863. Rev. Lewis followed in 1865, and Rev. Brown came in 1868, the first regular pastor after the dedication of the church. C. G. Hickok gave an account of the second Congregational church which was dedicated December 14th, 1873. Rev. E. L. Sherman, pastor. Rev. Rogers reviewed the condition of the church for the past year and also read a letter from Rev. W. S. Hunt, now president of the Congregational college at Salt Lake city, who was the pastor of the present church when erected. Reports were also given by the clerk, Miss Sheldon, and the treasurer, Mr. Hickok. The past year over $900 has been raised above the regular expenses for the furnishing of the church, which includes a new furnace, entire new carpeting, electric light chandeliers, papering and varnishing, and pews. The church is in splendid financial condition and the new furnishings make it one of the most pleasant places in the city for worship.

For THE JOURNAL. KING ALFRED'S LIGHT. BY THESE ACKNOWLEDGERS. When Alfred was the people's king and reigned over England's soil. A taper was made by his command. And three equal parts he sold. It burned to brightly day and night. Blessed of God was its holy oil. One-third weekly paid, one-third present. And the other third for toil.

The good king died and the Norman heel was stamped into England's soil. The people were short and progress was few. And lengthened were the hours of toil. And the people became, in the end, the woe of their native soil. Who ever will buy a candle, let them buy King Alfred's light for toil.

Real Estate Transfer. Becher, Jaggi & Co., real estate agents, report the following real estate transfers filed in the office of the county clerk for the week ending January 8, 1898.

Sixteen transfers, total $18,955.00. District 44 and vicinity. Wm. Moore says that he lost 200 hogs last fall, before the disease left his pens. Several teams from Colfax county passed this place last week loaded with straw, for the sheep ranch near Columbus.

Last Friday while husking corn for Wm. Moore, John Griffin husked over 100 bushels, and George Drinnin husked 94 bushels, all husked in the snow.

A fair price for all of the straw that is brought into the market this winter we fear will cause some of us to run short of litter for bedding our own stock before summer, especially if we should have much stormy weather in February and March. Let us look out for that before it is too late, as we cannot hope to buy that article in bad weather if we should try.

On Monday evening last, perhaps a start was made for an extended system of sewerage for the city of Columbus.

For several years the line on North street has been in operation, and has given good satisfaction, showing its utility and also its money-earning ability.

The project is not to go farther north than Seventeenth street, further east than the First ward school house, nor further west than the Sixth principal meridian line.

Dr. Evans presided at the meeting, and I. Sibirsen acted as secretary.

The new officers assumed their positions last Thursday morning. Sheriff Byrnes appointed Thomas Gentleman deputy, continuing a man in the position who has proven himself faithful and capable.

County Clerk Phillips appointed Louis Laecht of Humphrey deputy and John Graf, one of the two clerks, Julius Rasmussen being the other one for a few weeks, when L. E. Hendry of Monroe will probably take his place.

It is understood that County Judge Robinson and County Attorney O'Brien will have their offices at the court house. District Judge Albert held his first term of court last Saturday.

The supervisors have been very busily engaged the past week.

There was a time when even Platte county didn't have any newspaper, but it was a long time ago. THE JOURNAL was established May 11, 1870, and has been published by the same management ever since. Cedar Rapids Outlook: Pierce Andrews, one of our best and most successful farmers is an enthusiastic advocate of artichokes as a feed for hogs. He raised them extensively last year, and says if he had commenced raising artichokes ten years ago he would have been worth five thousand dollars more than he is. He says his hogs which fed upon this root through the fall, and until the ground froze up were greatly improved in health and general condition. He thinks that every farmer should have a few acres at least planted to artichokes.

Norfolk News: A young man named Drews was arrested at Grand Island Monday night on the charge of firing the shot that disfigured for life the face of Miss Grace Hansen at her home near Wood River. He was about to take the train for California it was thought, but was arrested while eating supper with his father at one of the hotels of Grand Island. He claims that the shooting was purely accidental, he being out to celebrate the closing of the old and beginning of the new year. The nose, one eye and the greater part of one side of the girl's face were torn away.
